EDITORIAL.

All eyes are on Captain. The introduction of coal shipments from that place to this point has been an eye-opener. Alamogordo, however, is not being overlooked. Business men are not slow to catch on.

GAL. DALL NEWS.

The Galveston News, sirs of the Dallas News, is the best republican paper in the South. It believes in the gold standard, expansion, and has a good word for the trusts; detests free silver and Jim Hogg. Some say, in fact it says itself, that it is democratic. Others say, not let that be it may, the republicans of this city swear by it.

PROFESSIONAL ETHICS.

Is all that keeps Jack-pot doctors and legal-light-headed lawyers from advertising in the newspapers. It is not professional; it is a vulgar procedure that "ethics" condemn, and annually we never forget at our association meeting to revive the resolutions which forbid that our name shall ever appear in print—if we have to pay for it.

IN SUFFERANCE.

The recent speech of Senator Rogers Quarles Mills before the Texas legislature in opposition to the proposed tax law pending in the legislature would lead a person to infer that he will head another expedition into politics in the Lone Star state as a slick, slimy plutocrat. The inference is drawn from the "petroleum" period that punctuated the speech.

A BACK-CAPTER.

An out-of-town drummer, who has been up the White Oaks as far as Captain, had a whole lot of uncomplimentary things to say about matters up that way on his return here. According to him, Alamogordo is no good, the people are cheap guys, there is no coal at Captain, the whole outfit is a cinch, and the cinchers are Henry Pfaff and the Eddys. Of course, he meant no harm; he only wanted to exercise his right to "kick." In fact, he had a kick coming, for he was really disappointed, because he did no business, and consequently he was unhappy. A case of sour grapes, that's all. He is building a reputation as a first-class liar.

MATRIMONIAL.

A young lady of this city handed the following chunk of matri-political literature to the manager of the News branch office. She commends it to any gentleman in your locality who may become matri-political ambitions, as a model and up-to-date form. This is it: "My Dear Miss: I hereby announce myself as a candidate for your hand, and I shall use all fair and honorable means to secure the nomination. I know there are many candidates in the field and I hesitated long before entering the race, but now I am in to stay. "My views on love and matrimony have often been expressed in your hearing, and I will not repeat them here. You know I favor the gold standard of love—a 100 cent dollar love—and a maintenance of that standard after marriage. If you decide to confer upon me the honor I speak of, please fix a date for a caucus with your mother. I have no objection to her acting as temporary chairman, provided it is clearly understood that I am to be chairman of the permanent organization. Should the result of the caucus prove satisfactory, we can soon hold the primaries and select the date and place of the convention. "I have never believed in long campaigns, so if you have decided to honor me I will ask you to make the convention date as early as possible. "And the young lady telegraphed back, "caucus unnecessary. Nomination unanimous. Come at once and fix date of ratification."

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.

The Chamber of Commerce of El Paso, at least some members of it, seem to think that all that is necessary for its success is to attain certain advantages more or less personal in character. Gentlemen, you will have to keep your individual enterprises in the back ground; you will have to give your attention, as a unit, to the matter of drawing people here, of attracting capital, of making known that there are boundless opportunities about you which, when taken advantage of, will work out the problem of your city as a commercial mart and industrial center. The El Paso Department of the News will aid you all it can, and if you permit it, it would remark that you had better keep the politician at arm's length. He is the fellow who always has an axe to grind, and he generally grinds it. Private enterprises that speak through its paid attorney on matters that affect the public generally, such as the granting of franchises of the public utilities, should not be heard by you. You are a representative body of merchants and manufacturers, real estate and other classes of agents. Your aim should not be narrow, it should be broad in scope. The community will support you if you give them beneficial results; if not, it will not. There is room for more smelting enterprises; a city with an agricultural adjunct about it is sure to expand and its permanent greatness is assured as soon as the growth begins. To promote agriculture the question of raising water to the surface and the impounding of the waste water in the adjacent mountains should receive your deliberate and careful consideration.

NEWS ITEMS.

A PROHIBITORY TAX.
The bill introduced by the Hon. W. W. Bridges of El Paso and a member of the house of representatives of Texas to place a tax of $500 on all premium stamp associations, annually, has passed the house.

A BITTER FIGHT.
News comes from Austin that a bitter fight is on over the "double header" bill. Leading jobbing and manufacturing houses throughout the state are out in force against it, and are piling petitions, protests and remonstrances by the bale against it. Like action is being taken against the "tax bill," which was recommended by a board of commissioners appointed at the last term, or session, of the legislature.

THE BLACK CROOK.
This company had a two-night engagement last week. It played one night, but the opera house management would not let it appear the second time. As a rule, the gallery god is a great admirer of the spectacular, but this aggregation was too much. It was too much like the eggs they (the gods) bought, ultra-ripe, with which, in the language of a miniature god, they intended to shell the "bores."

THE ELKS BANQUET.

The banquet hall, in the Orndorff hotel was a beauty! Rare flowers graced the boards; the walls were festooned with banners and evergreens; the Lone Star flag of Texas and the star spangled banner were prominent; the colors of the supporting columns were purple and gold. Taken altogether it was a royal affair. The music, vocal and instrumental, was artistic; the banquets were a swell assemblage; refined wit abounded and the humor was infectious. It is qualified as such because those in the hotel lobby and out on the sidewalks joined in the laughter. The men were a knightly set, and the ladies—well they were too sweet and altogether lovely! It took four solid hours to discuss the menu! After that, the light fantastic too cut a figure, and terepsichorean gracefulness and all that sort of thing, brought the reception that the Elks of El Paso gave to the ladies, to a close.

ELECTRIC LIGHT FRANCHISE.

From what can be heard on the streets there is little doubt but that a franchise will be refused the new company by the city council next Thursday night, when the matter will come up for action. It was first stated that Mayor Magoffin would vote in favor of granting the franchise; it, however, is given out now (Tuesday) that he will vote for the present monopoly, with its execrable service. In that connection, it is hinted that, in the event that the city council—a straight democratic outfit—refuses the franchise, there will be a roar, long and loud.

A HISTORICAL CHARACTER.

Peralta-Reavis, the famous James Addison Ashley Reavis, came to this city last week. He has become a promoter—not of vast fraudulent land grant schemes—in the only line that is left open in these times of trusts and mammoth combines.

He is out in the newspaper field rustling business. He is publishing a paper in Denver, Col., called the "Peralta-Reavis Real Life Illustrated." Here is an editorial from it: "The failure of the strike in the smelter case (at Denver) stands out forcibly and bitterly before the union fanatic; but there is a lesson in this result that should awaken consciousness and teach the laboring man that all efforts to create a human trust without equal subsistence must fail. No mortal or association of mortals, however strong, can long survive without the 'staff of life.' Then so organize that the 'outs' are provided equal to the 'ins,' and the money trust will survive your first effort to enforce a just demand. This principle governs in every trust, because that is what constitutes a trust—caring for the weak. When a trust is formed on any commodity, each producer in that commodity stands on a pro-rate footing, and whether producing or no, as long as the trust lasts, receives a just pro-rate of the profits and losses of the combination. Hence the trust cannot be broken—there is not a weak spot in the structure—no one to grow hungry, therefore no one to yield for the sake of a pittance to buy bread."

He has been termed the greatest bunco operator of any age, and is credited with being the only person who ever got an auger into C. P. Huntington's barrel to the tune of a cool $100,000.

PERSONALS.

Miss Elizabeth Irvin of Phoenix, Arizona, was a guest at the Orndorff this week.

Edward M. McConnell and wife, of Dawson, Yukon territory, Alaska, had apartments at the Hotel Orndorff early this week.

J. S. Lusk, of Wyoming, who has the contract to build the Moreland Southern railway, was in El Paso Wednesday. He made the Orndorff his headquarters.

Thos. E. Flanagan, District Attorney of Maricopa county, Arizona, passed through Wednesday on his return home from New York, where he has been on business.

Hon. James B. Finley, an official of the Southern Pacific at Tucson, has been here on official business. Mr. Finley is one of the bright young men of Arizona who are prominently before the public eye. He has already served two terms in the legislature and has always acquitted himself to the satisfaction of his constituency.

The entire court of private land claims passed through here last Sunday night. Some went north and some went east. The gentlemen barely had time to eat lunch at the Orndorff, so the names were the train connections. The cases were the members of the court appeared in the last issue of THE NEWS, in this department.

Ex-Senator of the state of New York, Eugene S. Ives, of Yuma, Arizona, and one of the proprietors of the King of Arizona mine, made El Paso a flying visit last Monday night, returning home the next morning. "A gold bar worth $40,000 is the monthly 'clean-up,'" said he. "We treat the ore by the cyanide process." He had a colossal irrigation scheme on hand at one time; in fact, that is what brought him to Arizona. That will do to tell some other time.

FROM LA LUZ.

La Luz, Feb. 13.—W. E. Carmack has had men out hunting for four of his horses that were driven off from their usual range on Monday, the 11th, but up to the present has heard nothing of them. He and other men have gone down into old Mexico to see if they can hear of them or find them. The four were all he had and it is to be hoped the outlaws will be caught. There was a rumor also that Mr. Phillips, the dairyman near Alamogordo, had two of his horses stolen out of his corral a few nights ago. The rope with which they were tied was cut.

On Monday morning Mr. D. M. Sutherland had his team hitched ready to start to Alamogordo, when the team took fright from some cause and ran away. The wagon was badly demoralized but the horses were not hurt.

Mrs. Beasley's school will close next Friday. She is very busy preparing for a closing literary entertainment on Friday eve which promises to be very interesting.

Mrs. J. B. Findley returned home from Alamogordo on Tuesday evening. She had a very pleasant time, calling on many friends while there.

Rev. Hoffman filled his usual appointments here Saturday and Sunday.

J. M. Craft of Shawnee, O. T., stopped at the Glenmore last week and went to Gray Monday to visit his sons, Messrs. Willy and John Craft, of that place.

A. J. Smith returned to Alamogordo from Jarilla, last week, where he has been teaching the Jarilla school. He will open a school in La Luz Monday.

Mrs. Le Breton, wife of Rev. Le Breton, of the M. E. church South, is seriously ill, and in company with her husband, went to her parents' home in San Marcial, Friday.

Rev. Hoffman went to El Paso Monday, but will return Saturday and preach at the South Methodist church, Sunday morning and evening. He came up last Friday to attend the social given by the Ladies Aid society of the Methodist church, Friday night, and went to La Luz, Saturday, where he preached Sunday morning and in the evening.

G. C. Selpio, a former hardware merchant of Greenville, Ill., is a visitor in Alamogordo. He is favorably

AFFAIRS OF INTEREST HERE AT HOME.

Trinidad Perez and Senorita Madrid were married by Rev. J. C. Lord, Sunday.

A Home and Parsonage society was organized last week by the ladies of the South Methodist church.

Mrs. M. E. Scott of Denton, Tex., has purchased a lot on 10th street and will erect a two story residence.

New Mexico has an estimated population of 350,000, and an assessed taxable valuation of over $80,000,000.

A Mr. Peel, living in the eastern part of town, who has been seriously sick for several weeks, is recovering.

A daughter of W. R. Jackson, who lives about three miles north of town, has been seriously sick with typhoid fever, but is now recovering.

John Reeves, the hustling White Oaks porter, has just returned to duty after a finish fight with the measles. The measles were a close second.

Frank McCleary's mother and sister, Mrs. Walker and daughter, came in Monday. They came from Chicago and expect to remain indefinitely. They are charmed to find such warm, delightful weather.

A. P. Jackson is shipping 25 car loads of lumber to Captain, for the opening of that town next month, when a great deal of building will be done. A number of workmen are going to Captain from this place.

Mrs. Arthur Good's mother of Buffalo N. Y., arrived here on Thursday the 11th and expects to make an extended visit. She is delighted with the climate and can't think of it as anything but summer, it is so warm.

Fort Stanton, the United States Navy sanitarium, is improving rapidly. O. B. Warnock has a number of building contracts for which Alamogordo will furnish the material. A great deal of work will be done there this year.

F. A. Beideman has begun his visits to the schools of the county. Last week he visited Tulare and reports that he was surprised at the efficiency of the teachers, deportment of the scholars, and general conduct of the institution.

A train of forty car loads of coal went over the El Paso & Northern, from Captain one day this week. It was in charge of Mr. Graham, conductor, and Engineer Linnahan. This is the largest shipment yet made from the Captain coal fields.

On last Thursday night, a reception was given Mrs. Lord by the ladies of the Presbyterian church. Several delightful musical selections were rendered and refreshments were served by the ladies. Mrs. Lord is the wife of Rev. J. C. Lord, pastor of the Presbyterian church.

One of the most enjoyable features of the season was the "Pie Social" given Friday night, by the ladies of the Grace M. E. church in their new chapel. The "Mysterious Pie" caused a great amount of merriment. Mrs. Sutherland and Mrs. Polphrey proved the successful competitors, who after dividing the mystery, shared the contents with those present. The delicately attractive pie and candy books were well patronized. Refreshments of delicious home-made pies and coffee were served in a charming manner. Great praise is due the ladies for their first efforts, as their social proved a grand success both socially and financially.
